

LINER LENAPE SINKS AS SEACOCKS OPEN

Engine Room Force Unable to Avert Accident at Ship's
Hudson River Pier.

WRECKERS SET TO WORK

Cargo Discharged and Crew
Safe—Damage Is to Hull and Machinery Only.

The steamship Lenape of the Clyde Line, one of the finest and most popular vessels in the Florida passenger and freight trade, filled with water yesterday morning and sank in her dock, the north side of Pier 36, Hudson River. According to information obtained by the police, members of the engine room force were working on the vessel's sea cocks and found it impossible to close them after they had been opened.

The Lenape sank about 3 o'clock in the morning, but neither the police nor naval communications learned of the accident until last night. Soon after the ship went down the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking Company sent three wrecking tugs to the pier and pumps were rigged up aboard the Lenape and preparations begun for raising her. The wreckers found that the engine room and after holds of the ship had filled with water, but the forward holds were dry. The cargo had been discharged and the only damage is to the engines and the fittings.

No one but members of the crew was on board the ship when she sank, and she went down so slowly that every one was able to reach the wharf in safety. The Lenape, with three other Clyde Line vessels, is in the New York, Charleston and Jacksonville service. She arrived in New York last Sunday and was due to sail for the South again next Saturday. She was built at Newport News in 1912 and the Clyde Line and is of 5,179 tons register.

KUBAL TRIES SUICIDE IN A SING SING CELL

Viewed as Move to Gain
Reprieve on Insanity Plea.

Lawrence Kubal, who is awaiting death in Sing Sing prison for the murder of Mrs. Minnie S. Bartlett in her home in West Hempstead, L. I., last summer, tried to commit suicide yesterday morning in his cell in the death house. He hanged himself from the foot of his bed with a rope made of strips of a bed sheet tied together, but was discovered and cut down before he was dead. He was taken to the prison hospital and will recover.

Kubal was received in Sing Sing from Nassau county three months ago and has been fretting ever since he learned his wife had received the reward offered for his arrest and conviction.

Shortly after midnight yesterday Keener Windman, heard a choking sound from Kubal's cell, and found the man hanging from the bed post. He unlocked the cell in time to save Kubal's life. He suspended himself in the same manner in which Angelo Glionzi tried to hang himself six weeks ago. Warden Lewis E. Lawes said last night he believed Kubal's attempt was an effort to move insanity, but that a real attempt to commit suicide. It is not an unusual occurrence for convicts who are to be put to death to feign insanity, or attempt something which might show insanity. Kubal has already been examined by two alienists who reported that he was sane.

TWO MEN, $15,000 DRUGS SEIZED ON STEAMER

Officers Have Lively Fight on German Vessel.

After a hard fight last night below decks on the R. C. Rickers, a vessel from Hamburg, at Pier 2, American docks, Stapleton, Staten Island, detectives of Dr. Carleton Simon's staff reported that they seized two men and five pounds of cocaine, which they said had a sale value of $15,000.

Detective Patrick J. Cotter said he had been working several days on the case, and that William Bone of Hanover, Germany, a seaman, one of the prisoners, offered to sell the cocaine for $2,500 cash. Cotter said he promised to bring the money last night, and went aboard the ship accompanied by Albert O. Hokeness, Customs Inspector, and Detectives O'Brien and Boylen. The entire lot of drugs was obtained, and Bone and Heinrich Jensen, the firm men, were taken to jail in Stapleton charged with selling narcotics.

SHALLECK ASSAULT TALE CALLED FALSE

Four Witnesses Say No Blackjack Was Used.

Investigation of the alleged assault on Joseph Shalleck, campaign manager for James J. Hines, on primary night in Charles F. Murphy's district, was begun yesterday by George N. Brothers, Assistant District Attorney.

Among the witnesses were four members of the board of election inspectors in the Second Election district of the Twelfth Assembly district, who were in the polling place when the assault is said to have taken place. They all testified that Mr. Shalleck's story of having been struck on the head with a blackjack was untrue.

They said that Shalleck and four other men entered and charged the inspectors with forging names on the signature books, and that they assailed them with affidavits to prove that more than six men voted for Hines above the number credited to him by the board. At that point, they testified, one of the women inspectors asked Shalleck who he was. He replied: "I'm Jimmy Hines's manager, and men are up in Sing Sing for less than you are doing here."

Suddenly fifteen men appeared, they said, and a general mixup followed, until Patrolman Doolan of the East Twenty-second street station forced the crowd out of the polling place.

AUTOMOBILE DODGER RETALIATES WITH SHOT

Boy Peppers Woman and Her Chauffeur.

Mrs. M. R. Clark of Beacon, N. Y., and her chauffeur were wounded yesterday by pellets of shot fired at them just outside Annsville, Westchester county, by a youth who had to jump out of the way of their car to avoid being struck, according to the story they told in reaching Peekskill, where a physician extracted the shot and treated the wounds, which were slight.

An investigation by State constabulary disclosed, the troopers say, that a boy of 14, who lives near Peekskill, fired the shot. As the automobilists did not return to make a complaint he was not arrested.

SAYS BROTHER-IN-LAW STOLE LOVE OF WIFE

Prince Asks $100,000 Damages From Paterno, Builder.

Joseph Paterno, apartment house builder and owner, was sued yesterday for $100,000 by Charles Prince, who alleges the builder alienated the affections of Mrs. Prince, who is Mrs. Paterno's sister. The summons was served on Mr. Paterno in his office, 601 West 115th street, on July 28, but the complaint was not filed with the Supreme Court until yesterday.

Prince's complaint states that he and his wife, Alice, were married May 7, 1914, and lived happily until 1916. Between that year and this, he alleges, Mr. Paterno "wickedly, maliciously and unlawfully" endeavored to entice Mrs. Prince to abandon her husband, and succeeded finally late in July 1921. He alleges also that the relations of Mr. Paterno and Mrs. Prince have been unduly intimate.

BOY AT PLAY LOST OFF LINER IN OCEAN

The France Searches Widely for Francois Robert on Trip to New York.

The French liner France, in yesterday from Havre, was halted in midocean on Wednesday night when Francois Robert, belbooy, 16, tumbled into the sea from an after rail. He had been playing with two other boys of his age when he lost his balance and plunged into the foamy wake.

As it takes some time for a big ship like the France to stop, she was more than an eighth of a mile from the spot where the boy disappeared when Capt. Roch turned her around and headed back. A luminous lifebuoy had been set adrift to guide the boy, if alive, and show the navigator of the ship his probable whereabouts.

The France cruised around the place more than an hour and half, concentrating searchlights in every direction on the tumbling sea, and then headed west again, her commander deciding that the boy probably had fallen directly into the whirl of the liner's quadruple screws and had been killed instantly. He was the sole support of his widowed mother in Havre.

Among the France's 415 cabin passengers were Herman Metz, former Comptroller and Representative, who has been in Germany investigating the dye industry. He said he would confer with the Senate Committee arranging the new tariff and urge a high tariff against German dyes to protect our own manufacturers.

Raffaello Romanelli, Italian sculptor, had a small bust of Caruso made six months ago, with other of his works that he will exhibit here.

Other passengers were Mrs. Henry O. Havemeyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Cartier, Mr. and Mrs. Anatole la Braz, the latter a sister of Henry P. Davison; George Blumenthal of Lazard Freres and Miss Van Henselager Cruger.

DISLOCATES SHOULDER TAKING A GOOD YAWN

David Scharren Hurries to Hospital for Readjustment.

A man who said he was David Scharren of 1017 East 18th street, The Bronx, reached the Volunteer Hospital yesterday in a taxicab and asked to have his dislocated shoulder set, saying that he had thrown it out of alignment by stretching his arms above his head while inflating his lungs in a full yawn. He is employed in an office at 295 Broadway, and a more than usually heavy mail confronted him when he reached his desk at the beginning of the business day. He looked at the stack, then out of the window at the perfect weather, and the contrast filled him with a sudden weariness with business life, and he put his hands up and yawned.

PASTOR, OWN LAWYER, WINS $18 FUNERAL FEE

Advanced Sum for Woman
Believed Destitute.

The Rev. Charles W. Dane, pastor of St. Mark's Congregational Church, in Decatur street, Brooklyn, appeared as his own lawyer yesterday before Surrogate Wingate in Brooklyn and won a verdict of $18 in an action against the estate of Mrs. Annie S. Gourly for "services in saving her from an ignominious burial."

Mrs. Gourly was believed to be destitute when she died in the Kings County Hospital on February 13, 1921, but later it was discovered that she left an estate of $12,000. Dr. Dane contended he conducted her funeral services and located a grandniece, Miss Irene Gourly of North Bergen, N. J.

ELWELL'S NET ESTATE APPRAISES $243,956

Slain Man's Racing Stable
Brought $30,712.

The State Tax Commission made public yesterday its appraisal of the estate of Joseph Brown, whose murder on June 11, 1920, is unsolved. It shows he left a gross estate of $267,404 and a net estate of $243,956. Of this $27,718 was in real estate, the balance being in personal property. This was appraised as follows: Securities, $65,236, the largest holding being ten shares of the Beach-Beach Realty company common, a Long Beach development enterprise, appraised at $79,265; cash, $7,020; other personal property, $68,632.

This personal property included seventeen race horses, appraised at $37,160, but on auction they brought only $30,712. The remainder of the personal property consisted of furnishings and effects in his home at 24 West Seventh street, which also were sold at auction.

MAYOR VETOES ORDINANCES.

Stops Salary Increase and Free Use of Town Hall.

Mayor Hylan returned yesterday to the Board of Aldermen three ordinances recently passed by that board permitting Town Hall to give motion picture exhibitions without complying with the building law and to conduct common shows without paying the fee required by law. The Mayor said the ordinances were special legislation and discriminatory.

The Mayor also returned without approval a resolution increasing the salaries of court interpreters to the County Court of Richmond county from $1,805 to $2,200. He said the question of increases should be settled in making up the budget.

GALLATIN IS OPERATED ON.

Francis D. Gallatin, Manhattan Park Commissioner, was operated on yesterday in St. Luke's Hospital. He was reported improving last night. For some time he has been suffering from liver trouble.

HOTEL SUES ON BILL OF MRS. B. TIFFANY

Ritz-Carlton Alleges Balance
Due on Bill for Niece as Debutante.

ASKS $2,135 JUDGMENT

Event of December 17 Was Attended by Upward of 1,000 Notables.

Mrs. Belmont Tiffany of 67 East Ninety-second street, one of the best known society women in New York, gave a ball on December 17 last in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Upward of 1,000 society folk were present, to pay their respects to Mrs. Tiffany's niece, Miss Mary McLeod Cameron, who was being formally introduced to society. The ball was the feature event of a night replete with society functions for the season's debutantes.

According to a suit started yesterday in the Supreme Court by the Ritz-Carlton Restaurant and Hotel Company against Mrs. Tiffany only $500 has been paid by her on the bill for the ball of $2,635.35. Judgment for the balance is demanded. The papers show Mrs. Tiffany was reached by a process server as she was passing the corner of Park avenue and Ninety-second street, near her home.

The complaint recites that "between December 17, 1920, and December 18, 1920, at defendant's special instance and request, plaintiff furnished to defendant certain hotel accommodations, consisting of rooms, meals, supplies and cigars, the reasonable and agreed value and amount of which was $2,635.35."

Of this $500 was paid, and on May 12, 1921, the hotel and restaurant company presented a statement showing the $2,135.35 balance on the account. "Defendant agreed to pay the balance, on part thereof has been paid," the complaint concluded, in asking for the judgment and interest from December 18, 1920.

Miss Cameron, in whose honor Mrs. Tiffany gave the ball, was married on April 30, 1921, to Juan Randolph Mayer of Washington. The young matron is the daughter of Dupont Cammy, Mrs. Tiffany's brother, and granddaughter of Sir Roderick Cameron. Mrs. Tiffany was sued under the name of Anne Tiffany. Anne Cameron being her maiden name.

At Mrs. Tiffany's home last night it was said she was out and could not be reached. Her attorneys were not known to the servants.

RIVAL RABBIS IN COURT AFTER FUNERAL ROW

Weiss Held for Alleged Assault on Tannenbaum, 71.

Rabbi Toby Weiss of 197 Lewis street, Manhattan, was charged with assault on Rabbi Simon Tannenbaum, 71, of 1155 Prospect avenue, The Bronx, before Magistrate Doyle yesterday in Flushing Court. The two were in a dispute Monday, it was testified, over who should conduct a funeral service at Mount Hebron Cemetery, Queens, and Rabbi Weiss struck the elder man on the head with his cane, causing a scalp wound. Magistrate Doyle held Rabbi Weiss in $500 bail for Special Sessions.

Rabbi Tannenbaum, it was said, had a monopoly until recently of services for the dead at Mount Hebron, and the appearance of a rival rabbi caused bitter feeling between them.

RUSH ROGERS FREED OF BAD CHECK CHARGE

Released in Westchester After Day in White Plains Jail.

Charges of larceny against Rush Rogers, former army Major, and son of the late president of the Borden Condensed Milk Company, were dismissed last night after he had spent the day in White Plains jail. William S. Seely, Justice of the Peace, freed him. Rogers had been arrested at the Waldorf on Monday.

Nicholas Pronski, manager of the May-November Farm at Hartdale, who had accused Rogers of giving worthless checks aggregating $342.72, said the amount of the checks had been made good. Justice Seely permitted withdrawal of the charges.

GIRL'S ACCUSER GETS ANOTHER 'KLAN' NOTE

Kirschner Warned to Drop Larceny Charge.

Paul Kirschner, cloak and suit manufacturer, of 1073 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, who has made a charge of larceny against Miss May King, 21, has received another "Ku Klux Klan" letter warning him to drop the matter. It said:

"Kirschner, you lay off on that case of May King or you'll get a coat of tar and feathers. This includes your wife also. This is a warning from another member of the Ku Klux Klan."

On the letter is a death's head and the inscription:

"Sign of death to you and your wife."

Miss King was a maid in the Kirschner home. She was charged with the theft of wearing apparel and was arrested in the Grand Central Terminal as she was bound for her home in Hartford, Conn., on Saturday.

The first "Klan" letter reached Kirschner last Thursday. Both have been turned over to detectives of the Atlantic avenue station.

RABBI CALLS CURRAN HENRY FORD CANDIDATE

Rabbi Samuel Buchler, pastor of the Congregation Kol Israel in 24 West 114th street, delivered a sermon in his church yesterday in which he answered a recent statement of Henry Ford's that Tammany Hall was "ruled and ruined" by Jews.

Rabbi Buchler, who is a Deputy Commissioner of Markets in the Hyman administration, said that "a vote for the Democratic party is a vote against Henry Ford."

"Let us beware of Henry Ford," he continued, "who has the impudence of trying to elect Henry H. Curran for Mayor and to deprive the Jews of liberal minded and democratic government in New York city."

Rabbi Buchler was appointed a Deputy Commissioner of Markets in 1919. Prior to obtaining this position he was a Deputy Commissioner of Public Charities. Each job pays $5,000 a year.

DONATES ROOSEVELT LETTERS.

Capt. Edward J. Bourke, formerly of the New York Police Department, has presented to the Roosevelt Memorial Association a number of letters he received from the former President, during a dozen years. Capt. Bourke was closely associated with Col. Roosevelt during the latter's administration of the Police Department in 1895-96, and was the first man in New York to contribute to the Roosevelt Memorial Fund. Most of the letters are of a personal nature.

At the Service of the People ALL DAY Today

This is Columbus Day

It is well worth while to remember how almost every man that does anything out of the usual order is called a fool and laughed at, as Columbus was.

The writer remembers well how the people laughed at Alexander Graham Bell, when he gave out his idea that people could talk over little threads of wire between their homes and even to the far distant cities.

How proud the King and Queen of Spain must have been when they witnessed the determination of Columbus, and how they must have rejoiced with him, in the triumph over the wisecracks, who attempted to prevent the voyage of discovery.

There are not only visions of new worlds, but of new revelations, such as Thomas A. Edison has blessed the world with. Surely there are great things yet to be done, in transportation problems, not only on the land but though the clouds above our heads.

Every day some of us are saying what Captain Lawrence said, that went the world over. "Don't Give Up the Ship."

400 Suits for Men $43.50 at a Special Price

Same quality as suits in stock at $60 and $65

COLUMBUS DAY SPECIAL—planned with the co-operation of one of our manufacturers. On 200 Suits, Burlington Arcade grade, with one pair of trousers, and on 200 Suits, Burlington Arcade grade, with two pairs of trousers, they take less profit. So do we. So—be early.

There are 16 patterns in the one-trousers suits, and 16 patterns in the two-trousers suits. The fabrics used in the one-trousers suits are the custom-tailored-suit kind. Very good patterns—nothing extreme. Browns, grays, black, and faint white hair-lines, blue and faint white hair-lines, tasteful fancy mixtures. Highest grade worsteds, finished and unfinished.

The fabrics in the two-trousers suits are worsteds and cassimeres, of the grade used in the better class of ready-to-wear suits.

Two single-breasted models; one double-breasted. The sole difference between the two single-breasted models is that the coat is slightly fuller in one. The closer-fitting coat will appeal particularly to young men.

Compare them with our $60 and $65 suits. You'll find them just as good.

2,400 Men's Shirts at $1.65

—last year's $3 and $3.50 grades.

1,200 woven madras shirts, including plenty of plain white, with narrow white corded stripes in four designs. 1,200 fibre silk with mercerized cotton stripes, in a variety of arrangements and colorings. All sizes.
